Call for Nominees

We are seeking one nominee for our Board of Directors; deadline for nominations is 1:00pm Pacific on May 16, 2024.

Why run for the Co-op's Board of Directors?

Successive committees and boards have led the Cooperative from concept through success story since June 2007. Join the board to help shape your Cooperative's future!

The Cooperative is a non-profit community enterprise, strategically focussed on the delivery of shared operational infrastructure, management and resources for our diverse member organizations. Our exclusive services and innovative use of technologies enable our members to best serve their communities.

We drive innovation with our shared-service library technology solutions, brokered content licensing services, software design, and infrastructure hosting expertise.

Do you have experience with organizations that have grown and evolved rapidly, and do you understand how boards can evolve to provide appropriate governance support? We are seeking exceptional individuals to help guide us into the future!

What's involved?

BCLC Directors are volunteers elected by the membership. Board meetings occur approximately 6 times per year, for the most part by videoconference. In the past, the Board has met in person in Vancouver once or twice a year, with travel expenses paid by the Co-op. During the pandemic, we suspended in-person meetings and are continuing to meet exclusively via videoconference for the near future. Expect a time commitment averaging from four to six hours per month, depending on sub-committee participation.

Unlike a library board, the Cooperative board necessarily governs in a broader context, and is governed by different legislation. The Cooperative is an organization with national scope, and its partnerships and initiatives are reflective of its mandate.

Nomination Rules:

- Any member delegate of the Co-op may nominate a candidate for Director.

Only a registered, designated employee of a member organization (Delegate or Alternate) may vote; Member Delegates and/or Alternates must be registered with the Cooperative at least 30 days in advance of the AGM in order to vote.
